I hereby declare that I have revised my master's thesis as required by the Master Thesis

Examination Committee:

Point	Requirements by the Committee	Detailed revisions	Pages
1	Limit on discussion regarding the potential biological mechanism underlying these associations	Discussion has been added: “The biological mechanism of the relationship between MCH and albumin in carrying gene mutations in patients remains unclear. However, it is possible that carrying BRCA1/2 gene mutations in ovarian cancer patients affects their immunity and nutritional status.”	49

2	Check again for gramma error	Several spelling errors have been identified and corrected in the thesis. "Early detection of individuals carrying BRCA gene variants before they develop cancer will greatly contribute to effective surveillance, prevention, and treatment strategies for this disease"	4
		"To achieve that general goal, this thesis aims for two main results"	5
		"Early detection of patients with gene mutations makes preventive interventions more effective, thereby reducing the risk of disability and death from ovarian cancer, especially in cases of hereditary ovarian cancer"	20
